

Share Report Abuse Next Blog»

Create Blog Sign In

BETTER D.C. SCHOOL FOOD

TUESDAY, JULY 20, 2010

A Chef's Perspective on D.C.'s Pilot Food Programs

I crossed paths with Lisa Suriano at the Fed Up with Lunch blog, where readers voted her a "Titanium Spork" award for her crusading efforts on behalf of school food. Because her family provides school meals through their catering company in New Jersey, I asked Lisa if she would give us her view of the two pilot programs D.C. school officials have announced to serve upgraded menus in the coming year. Each will use private contractors to provide food for seven schools, one with "portable" meals delivered to the cafeteria, the other meals cooked from scratch on site. Lisa, recently returned from a trip to Italy to witness the progress school meal program in Rome, sent this guest post---Ed Bruske

Guest Post

WELCOME

Better D.C. School Food is the official blog of Parents for Better D.C. School Food. We advocate replacing highly processed, sugary foods with wholesome, nutritious food in District of Columbia public schools to promote the health and well-being of all children. We partner with the D.C. Farm to School Network to promote the use of sustainably grown local farm goods in school meals.

JOIN US

Our Facebook Page

Our Google Group

SUBSCRIBE TO BETTER D.C. SCHOOL

 Posts

 Comments

There was an error in this gadget

LOCAL LINKS

D.C Wellness Policy

D.C. Farm to School Network

[D.C. Healthy Schools Act Brochure \[PDF\]](#)

D.C. Menus: By School/Grade Level

D.C. Menus: Chartwells

[Healthy Schools Act \[PDF\]](#)

Tales from a D.C. School Kitchen

OTHER VALUABLE LINKS

2009 School Nutrition Dietary Assessment \(PDF\)

